THREE TAXATION BILLS DEFEATED IN OHIO HOUSE

Uniform Rule Supporters Worst in Initial Scrimmage.

FOOTS ACT LOSES

Expect Quick Action On Bill Regarding Prescriptions

Columbus, O., March 17.—Three taxation measures, supported by friends of the uniform rule of taxation, have been defeated in the house.

By a vote of 59 to 54, the house defeated the Fouts bill which sought to prohibit the deduction of liabilities from credits in tax listing. The bill failed to receive a constitutional majority, 63 votes.

The Robinson bill, providing for the imposition of a penalty equal to 50 percent of the value of property not listed for taxation, was defeated, 54 to 54.

The Cope bill, designed to give taxing officials power to examine bank and building and loan records was referred to the taxation committee on motion of the author. This action, it is generally conceded, killed the bill.

Quick action is expected on a bill, introduced by Senator McCoy, Mahoning county, prohibiting Ohio physicians from prescribing any intoxicating liquors, excepting pure grain alcohol. The bill follows in the wake of former Attorney General Palmer's eleventh hour ruling permitting physicians to prescribe beer as medicine.

Under suspension of the senate rules, the McCoy bill, upon introduction was promptly referred to the senate temperance committee, which is expected to attach an emergency clause to the measure.

Substantially similar to the original Crabbe dry act which was defeated at a state wide referendum, the McCoy bill seeks to prohibit also, the manufacture of any liquors, excepting pure alcohol, for medicinal purposes. The state prohibition commissioner would issue permits to manufacture.

EMPLOYEES READY TO ISSUE STRIKE CALL IMMEDIATELY

Conference Will Be Held In Washington On Monday.

Chicago, March 17.—Representatives of packing house workers who will attend the conference at Washington Monday to discuss the method of adjusting the stockyards wage controversy will be empowered by their constituents to call an immediate strike if their terms are not granted. Reports received today from the strike vote taken yesterday in packing plants throughout the country indicate that the sentiment of the workers is overwhelmingly in favor of a strike.

In Chicago returns indicate 85 percent of the packing house employees voted in favor of a strike. Returns from Denver, Fort Worth, Omaha and other packing centers show that the strike proposals carried strongly in these cities also.

Dennis Lane, secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America and Attorney Redmond S. Brennan, have been selected as the labor delegates to the Washington conference.

NOTED LECTURER AND MINISTER IS DEAD

DR. FRANK W. GUNSAULUS PASSES AWAY EARLY THURSDAY

Chicago, March 17.—Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, president and one of the founders of the Armour Institute of Technology and one of the most noted ministers of the present day, died here at 4 o'clock this morning. The end came two hours after he had been stricken unexpectedly with heart disease.

Dr. Gunsaulus was pastor of Central Church here for twenty years and was internationally known as a minister and lecturer. He resigned his pastorate several years ago to give all of his time to the Armour Institute.

SCHOOL FUND IS MILLION.

ADVERTISE FOR 100 "LOST" METHODISTS

Evangelist, Ill.—"Lost 100 Methodists." This advertisement recently started Evanston newspaper readers. It was inserted by the Rev. Ernest Fremont Little, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, who believes in fighting the devil with printer's ink. His church has a membership of 2,000, an increase of nearly 100 per cent since he assumed the pastorate. His text of the "lost advertisement" reads as follows:

"Lost—Somewhere between Church street and Hinman avenue, Evanston, and the old church back home, 100 church letters. Some are in attics, others in desks, still others in possession of former pastors. Suitable reward and much satisfaction assured to all who find and turn them into the pastor of this church."

GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA ON PRE-WAR TERMS

Russo-British Commercial Agreement Is Signed.

TO MOVE GOODS

Exporters Will Begin Sending Supplies To The Soviet.

London, March 17.—Except for the absence of diplomatic relations, Great Britain today occupies the same position toward Russia she did before the war. Following the signing of the Russo-British commercial agreement yesterday preparations were commenced today to move millions of dollars worth of British goods into Russia.

Labor leaders are jubilant over the outlook for they assert that the trade relations with Russia will give work to thousands of unemployed. British exporters will begin sending tools of all kinds, agricultural machinery, locomotives, rails, typewriters, shoes, cotton and woolen goods and food. The Soviet at Moscow will pay for all the goods with gold until Russia is in a position to begin exchanging raw materials for the finished goods. There is a large surplus accumulation of goods in Great Britain owing chiefly to the German blockade and the stagnation in trade with the balance of Europe.

Warehouses Crammed.

The British warehouses are crammed with this merchandise. The successful termination of the Anglo-Russian trade negotiations after a year of conversations is one of the most important victories the soviet has achieved since it was established more than three years ago. The influx of merchandise will give Nicolaï Lenin an opportunity to justify his contention that the lifting of the anti-Russian blockade would put the soviet government in an impregnable position.

It is considered likely that other governments will follow the action of Great Britain in opening trade with Russia. It is pointed out that Washington D. Vanderlip, head of the American syndicate which secured important concessions from Russia, is at present in Moscow conferring with the supreme economic council of the soviet government. So far however, the United States has not taken any outward steps toward opening commercial relations with Russia.

AMERICAN SHIP MISSING

JUST A NIMBLE BOYS!

Port Clinton, Ohio, March 17.—Union fishermen here accepted the 1919 wage scale of $5 a day, and went back to work, after a two-day strike. The men asked for the 1920 scale of $6 a day, which dealers said they could not pay.

BULLET FROM GUN OF MAN RIDING IN AUTOMOBILE NEAR MASSILLON

Car Is Mistaken For That Containing Bandits

Canton, O., March 17.—Eight year old Thelma Kime, daughter of Oscar Kime, of Canton, is dead caused from a bullet passing through her head last night, the victim of one of the most peculiar cases in the history of Stark county officials. Kime and his daughter were driving through Massillon in an automobile. As they reached a spot near the cemetery they were suddenly ordered to halt by two men. Fearing they were being held up by robbers, Kime turned on more gas to speed away. A bullet followed, deftly worked on wheels by an expert in the game. After a spell of training the pupils are matched against young bulls.

SENSATIONAL ATTACK ON PROSECUTING ATTORNEY MADE BY COUNSEL FOR DEFENSE

Clara Smith Hamon's Lawyer Terms Dead Oil King as "Moral Leper" and Blames Governor Of State for Prosecuting Girl.

Courtroom, Ardmore, Okla., March 17.—A sensational bitter attack on General J. B. Robertson of Oklahoma and Attorney General S. P. Freeling, charging them with using political influence to "persecute" Clara Smith Hamon, defense counsel, in opening his arguments to the jury in the Hamon murder trial today.

Champion also branded Jake L. Hamon, the dead oil king, as a "moral leper."

"The attorney general, I will say, is not responsible for this. 'The man who is responsible is the governor of the state who went out of his way to persecute a girl and defend a moral leper who defrauded and stole the virtue of a country girl,' Champion charged.

Champion began his argument right after court convened this morning. He branded Hamon as a "seducer" and as a man who "stole girls out of the cradle."

"The attorney general has come here to uphold the hands of a millionaire debaucher. 'This girl was a country girl in her teens. Jake Hamon wooed, won and seduced this girl. Hamon a man of 40, seduced her when she was in her teens. He took this girl pure in heart, and seduced her. If she had been a common woman, do you think he would have sent her to college and taken her into his office?'

"He went into the shadow of this pure girl's home and he took her for what purpose? He coaxed, wooed, won and sent her to school, not for the service he might get out of her as stenographer but to make her yield her body to his brutal passion."

"This man stole girls out of the cradle and yet attorneys for the prosecution have the audacity to ask you to convict her for slaying this man of 40, this master mind and brute."

"You know the personal friends of this debaucher who came into the court to swear against this girl—Frank Ketch and Errett Dunlap—you know these men who have their fingers on the millions of the dead man."

Champion included in his denunciation S. V. Mullen, Mullen's brother sitting within a few inches of Champion rose half way in his seat and caught the attorney's arm. Sheriff "Buck" Garrett seized Mullen by the shoulder and drew him into his seat.

Death Stalks Nightly Through Dublin Streets

Five Civilians Killed During Past 48 Hours Following Attack On Soldiers Who Infest City—Attacks Occur Frequently.

Dublin, March 17.—Five civilians have been killed here within the past 48 hours during attacks on soldiers and the black and tan police. The streets are nightly becoming more dangerous owing to the increasing number of Sinn Fein assaults against the military.

Lorries patrol the streets continuously and soldiers under arms are constantly held in readiness for fighting services.

Of the five persons killed during the past 48 hours four of them were not concerned in the attacks.

There was an attack against a detachment of soldiers early today. Afterwards it was announced at military headquarters that there had been no casualties but persons who were upon the scene said that five were struck by flying bullets. One of the victims was a boy of 14 who is said to be in critical condition.

TROUBLE BREWING IN WILLIAMSON THREATENS TO DEVELOP INTO WAR

Naval Agreement With U. S. Wanted by England

Washington Receives Word With Interest—Controversy Over Naval Policy, Of No Small Proportions, Looms Ahead Of Nation.

Washington, March 17.—The announcement in London by the first Lord of the British admiralty that Great Britain is not only ready but anxious to reach a naval understanding with the United States was received with great interest in Washington. Lord Leo's frank statement on England's position, following as it did the reduction in England's naval estimates for 1922 was regarded as highly significant.

Already there is looming up in the not far distant future controversy of no small proportions over the naval policy to be followed by the new administration. In the two weeks he has been in office, Secretary of the Navy Denby has indicated clearly in

MINING CENTER IS POWDER KEG AS TRIAL ENDS

Bitter Feeling Between Factions May Cause Outbreak

TROOPS NOT THERE

Feud Between Felts Detectives and Miners Is Now On

Mingo County Courthouse, Williamson, W. Va. March 17.—Now it must be told.

The last act of the trigger trial drama is on, and the stage on which it is being enacted is a powder barrel. Arguments to the jury were begun this morning.

It is time that the curtain of secrecy that has hidden the true situation here from the view of the outside public was lifted. A newspaperman's first duty is to Truth.

Things are stirring in Mingo county—mysteriously, ominously. Miners are threatening to come into Williamson by the hundreds and march on the courthouse, armed to their teeth. The saner counsels of the United Mine Workers of America have prevailed thus far, but the movement for a sympathy demonstration for the 16 miners on trial for the murder of Detective Albert Felts is powerful. For one thing, its prime movers insist upon having enough men here to offset the presence of "Felts" men. Rumors are adding to the trigger tension. One persistent report has it that at least two score Baldwin-Felts detectives have quietly slipped into town the last few days.

Tom Felts, head of the agency, vigorously denies this. He further avers there is not a scintilla of truth in reports that strong squads of detectives, or mine guards, as they are more often referred to, are held at nearby points ready to pour into this town at a moment's notice.

There are not more than a dozen known Felts men in town. That there are others, working "under cover" is admitted by Tom Felts.

It should be said in all fairness that the Felts men who have been here since the trial began have minded their business, they have gone out of their way to avoid trouble. Some of them have been state's witnesses. Five of them are to be tried next month for the murder of Mayor C. C. Testerman and two others in the Matewan gun battle.

There are at least ten men here whose lives common talk holds are not worth a pinch of snuff from the moment the verdict is in. It matters not which way the verdict goes.

Williamson, for seven weeks the town of fearful suspense, has over night changed into a "Town of trigger dread." People who have gone about their business tight-mouthed for nearly a year are beginning to talk. And all the talk revolves around the intangible yet omnipresent dread of trouble which everybody believes will follow the verdict as inevitably as night follows the day.

And in the event of trouble this

ST. PATRICK'S DAY GAIETY MISSING

Washington, March 17.—The gaiety which has marked observance of St. Patrick's day in other years was missing in Washington today. Leaders of the Irish cause whose headquarters are here discouraged play making and hilarity because of conditions in Ireland.

Instead of the usual parading and gayness, Irish sympathizers observed the day by starting a drive to secure $100,000 for Irish relief.

WATER SUPPLY ADEQUATE FOR FIRE PROTECTION

Rumors Of Increased Rates Are Branded False.

That the new supply and equipment of the municipal water works will make Xenia better equipped for fire emergency than ever before, is the assertion made by city authorities.

The statement is haled at argument which has been whispered here for several days, that the Ohio inspection Bureau, which fixes insurance rates all over the state, would demand a higher rate in this city because the size of the mains leading from the water station has been cut two inches.

The rumor and the cause, its backers point out, is considered ludicrous by authorities versed in hydraulic plants, for while the main now used is 12 inches instead of 14 inches such as carried the water to the city from the old Springfield pike station, the amount of water available and the amount that can be pumped with the new and efficient pumps is more than twice as much every twenty-four hours, as can be obtained now at the maximum.

That some Xenian evidently notified the State Bureau that the city had cut the size of its mains, was proven by the receipt of a letter by City Manager Riddle, from the Bureau, stating that it was understood that this city had installed a much smaller water supply station. A letter correcting the impression, and explaining the advantages of the new system, was immediately returned to them by the manager.

Much smaller units go to make up the present water works plant, in comparison with the old plants on the Springfield pike and Cincinnati avenue. The new rotary pumps installed are much smaller than the old pulsating pumps used formerly, but have a capacity of pumping the same amount of water twice as fast as the old style plant.

At present, with the old water supply dangerously low the city is able to pump a maximum which is able to pump 750,000 gallons every twenty-four hours. The Cincinnati avenue station has only been operated eight hours a day for some time, because of the low water supply, and for a long time, the city has never been able to pump more than 100,000 gallons a day.

With the present new machinery, a total of 900 gallons a minute can be pumped, or 54,000 gallons every hour, or 1,296,000 every twenty four hours, which is about 50 per cent more water than the city can at present supply with the town has no more protection than some two score state police and a handful of deputy sheriffs. Every hour makes it more apparent why court and counsel tried so frantically a month ago to prevail upon the then Governor Cornell and the war department to keep the federal troops here.

The slightest provocation by either side in the gigantic struggle now approaching its climax is bound to bring on a tragedy which anyone familiar with the sub-surface situation here shudders to contemplate.

Protection is due to the people of Williamson as peaceful and law-abiding community as one can find anywhere in the United States, a community sick at heart over the shadows cast upon their town by a blood orgy with which they have had absolutely nothing to do, but which is having its dramatic legal aftermath here simply because this is the seat of Mingo county.

The people of Williamson are aching for the end. They want to be left alone and go back to work under normal conditions. Yet the end is not in sight for this as the county seat, is now the center of a feud infinitely more bitter and far-reaching and dangerous than the now almost legendary feud between the Hatfield and McCoy clans.

It is the feud between the "B. F." and the "M. W."—the men of the Baldwin-Felts detective agency and the United Mine Workers of America.

And the dread in all minds and on all lips is lest this feud smouldering for 10 months, break into flame when the 12 men who are to decide the fate of the 16 defendants in the Matewan gun battle case, return their verdict.

Six hundred thousand union mine workers throughout America are vital interested in that verdict. Four thousand of them live in Mingo county and are watching for it in feverish tension. The great majority of these have been on a strike for many months.

There are innumerable new faces in town, and every train brings more. Every new face is a sub-surface sensation. For this town is saturated with a system of espionage and counter-espionage such as would put to shame the boldest dreams of secret service wizards. Every step of every body of consequence is shadowed by one side or the other—or both.

Each side has its "watchers" in every imaginable sort of job, in all walks of life. The "watchers" are supplemented by body guards for those whose lives are in the shadow of "trigger dread."

A TRIBUTE

A meeting of the Board of Governors of the Greene County Library was held Wednesday, March 16th, 1921, in memory of Miss Isadora F. King. Touching testimonials of appreciation and affection were voiced by all the members present and the accompanying tribute was presented.

Although forty-two years have passed since the formation of the Xenia Library Association, death has now entered, for the first time, the ranks of its eight charter members, and we, her associates, record with a deep sense of loss and sorrow, the passing away of our dear friend and co-worker, Miss Isadora F. King.

None can appreciate, as those who have been with her from the beginning the extent of her interest, influence, and self-sacrificing labors in behalf of the Xenia Library. The published record which, by request, she wrote in 1913, detailing the story of the formation, struggles, and progress of the Association for thirty-five years, up to the time it became known as "the Greene County Library," appeals now to her associates as a fitting record of her own part in the up-building and sustaining of the Library throughout all those years. And as a member of the "Board of Governors" under the new administration, her interest and activities continued to the end of her life. Ever ready to welcome with the heartiness so characteristic of her, new members who from time to time, responded to the call to take up the work, her continued co-operation, her long and valuable experience and intelligent understanding have been to them an inspiration and encouragement and will continue to be an incentive in carrying forward the work that was so dear to her. Truly hers was a Life Membership; and though, henceforth, her place will be vacant to us, our friend is not dead, since she lives ever in our hearts. And to the ever-increasing number of readers and students, all of whom are and will continue through coming years her debtor, she will live on and on, seeing "they are not dead who live in lives of others made better by their presence."

On behalf of the Board of Governors of the Greene County Library.

A Magic Silk Hat
Good Old Gladstone

AN EDITORIAL
ON SHOPPING

Gladstone used to say that he took the leading American periodicals largely for the purpose of studying the advertisements, because in no other way could he gain so clear an insight into our industrial and social systems.

When the historian of the future delves into the archives of our public libraries, one of his greatest aids in recreating our life and thought will be the advertisements contained in the newspaper files.

What woman is not familiar with the smartest models of seasonable hats as they appear in this newspaper?

What man does not know the style of collars that are Fashion's latest whim?

What woman does not know what sport skirts and coats of contrast ing colors are being worn?

Advertising makes shopping simple and pleasant. It brings the merchandising world into your home—shows you what you may expect to find on the counters and shelves of our leading merchants. Every day advertising helps you make speedier and more satisfactory selections at a saving.

Advertising has made quality the unwavering standard of merchandising and practical economy the efficient agency against the high cost of living.

There is no mystery about advertising.

It has none of the qualities of the magician's silk hat. It is the light that shines through the windows of the shop or merchandising institution, giving it character and standing with you and your neighbors.

Advertising is the soul of trade—the greatest economy to both consumer and advertiser. It enables the advertiser to make more sales at a smaller margin of profit and gives you the resultant lower prices.

If you deal with merchants and manufacturers who advertise, you may effect economies which otherwise might be unknown to you.

Today when men and women are anxious to make their every dollar reach maximum efficiency in buying the regular reading of advertising will prove to be as pleasurable as it is profitable.

Recommend Foley Kidney Pills to all who suffer from kidney troubles as I did." Sayre & Hemphill.

THREE AMERICANS KILLED IN TAMPICO

Washington, March 17. — The American consul at Tampico today informed the state department of the murder of three American citizens in Tampico on the night of March 10. The consul states that the murder was apparently committed by robbers.

The three murdered men are Ernest Small, Will Roper and S. Brown.

It is understood that the three men were sailors on a Norwegian ship in the Tampico harbor and that after being robbed and murdered by thugs their bodies were thrown into the harbor.

A request has been made upon the local authorities at Tampico to use every effort to secure the arrest and punishment of the guilty persons.

SOCIALISTS ABANDON PICKETING PLANS

Atlanta, Ga., March 17.—Plans of socialists to picket the White House on April 13 and 14 in behalf of Eugene V. Debs have been abandoned. It was announced here today by Samuel M. Castleton, attorney for Debs at the request of the famous prisoner himself. A nation wide demonstration in behalf of Debs will be carried out. Word that Debs desired the plans be abandoned was taken to Castleton by Otto Branstetter, national executive secretary of the socialist party who visited Debs. Bars against any visitors for Debs were left down long enough to allow a brief conference between Debs and Branstetter.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 20 years old and in love with a man seven years my senior. We had been keeping company for two years. Then suddenly we quit because he thinks me guilty of something which I am not.

I am a girl who has always had the best of fellows and the best of times. I have traveled a great deal. At present I hold a very responsible position in a large city.

This love I have for the man is true as I believe I have the knowledge of a woman of thirty in regard to worldly affairs. I would be thankful if I did not love him. Why is it that a bright, cheerful girl with a lot of friends, which I am, takes love so hard? He is not worthy of my love. He leads a bad life and I am a clean-cut girl and have always been decent. He is rich and I am poor. I love life and maybe I could forget him if some other man were here to take his place. Am I doing right by waiting for better and greater things in life?

A letter would bring him back. Should I sent it?

WORLDWEARY.

To feel that you are so wise is a mistake. One of the failings of nineteen and twenty is to be over-wise. At the age of twenty-five comes a new youthfulness and a yearning for greater wisdom.

Do not write for a man who is not worthy of you to come back. Time will heal your wound and, in a few months or a year, you will realize that fate was kind to keep you free to enjoy better and happier times.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going with a girl of twenty who belongs to a different religion than I do. We are both deeply in love with each other. Both her people and mine are opposed to our getting married because we are of different religions.

My folks would like to have her join my church and her folks would like to see me join theirs. It is my desire to continue in my faith and so it is with her.

Do you think it unwise for me to marry her just because our folks object on the grounds that mixed marriages often bring discord into families? SINCERELY,

There are so many causes for discord in families that if couples waited for perfect conditions we would have few marriages.

The fact that you are not of the same religion need make little difference if each is sufficiently broad-minded to let the other worship as he sees fit. Of course the subject of children should be discussed so that a future inharmonious need not arise on that score. One or the other will have to make a sacrifice.

It seems to me, however, that a girl of twenty is too young to marry. It is a question whether she is genuinely in love or whether she has a passing fancy. You and the girl will have to decide the problem for yourselves. I can merely say that a religious difference has brought great unhappiness to some couples, while it has not marred the happiness of others.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me what the seventh year wedding anniversary is? M. R.

The seventh year is the woolen anniversary.

"H. L. M.": Thank you for your interest. It is, however, contrary to the policy of my column to give out addresses. Besides, the girl did not furnish me with her name and address when she wrote.

"The Hostess": I am sorry, but I do not answer questions concerning entertaining.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going with a girl of twenty who belongs to a different religion than I do. We are both deeply in love with each other. Both her people and mine are opposed to our getting married because we are of

APPOINTED U. S. CONSUL AT ROME

Rev. Joseph Denning.

President Harding has appointed Rev. Joseph Denning of Marion, O., U. S. consul at Rome, according to recent word from Washington.

ANOTHER APPLICANT WANTS POSITION AS CITY MANAGER

Charles Clark, of Hillsboro, who is a candidate for the position of City Manager here, following the term of office of City Manager Kenyon Riddle, who will leave to take a similar position at Middletown soon, conferred with members of the City Commission here Wednesday.

Mr. Clark is between 35 and 40 years of age, and for the last six years has been county surveyor of Highland County. For a number of years he has been a superintendent with the State Highway Commission in Highland County, and has had much experience in constructing roads and bridges, and in paving work in Greenfield, Hillsboro and other municipalities.

During his paving work, Mr. Clark has had close connection with the financial end in making out the budget and his experiences in this line are considered excellent qualifications from the standpoint of a city manager. The applicant has never held a position as City Manager nor has he been at the head of any city government.

Up until Thursday afternoon, no other candidate for the position of City Manager besides the four already mentioned had made application. The four original applicants are Mr. Clark, Werter McKay of this city, who is connected with the County Surveyor's office, C. E. Lippincott of Sidney, who is with the state bureau of public accounting, and Marion Hay, a civil engineer from Wilbur Wright Field. Mr. Hay talked to J. Thorb Charters president of the commission, several days ago.

It was rumored Thursday that Wilbur Cotton, now City Manager of Ambridge, Pa., may be an applicant for the position. He was a candidate for the managership at Middletown, and when Mr. Riddle secured the position he wired the local manager congratulations, also asking if the job here was still open. Thursday he tried to get Mr. Riddle by long distance telephone, but they were not able to talk, and it is thought possible that he will come here for a conference with the Commission.

Mr. Cotton is rated high among city managers. He has had considerable experience in that position, and Ambridge is a city larger than Xenia. The fact that Mrs. Cotton's relatives live in Dayton is believed to be one inducement why the Ambridge Manager would be willing to come to this city. E. V. Steedlein, former assistant city manager of Dayton, who also was a runner up in the race for the Middletown position, has not entered the list for the position here as yet.

FREIGHT RATES ARE BLAMED FOR HIGH PRICE OF BUILDING

With a boom in building for Xenia sadly needed, the freight rates added to building material, present one factor in keeping up the high prices of building commodities, that are facing those who would inspire such a boom, it is pointed out.

Local dealers point out that the last freight increase of 40 per cent, added freight rates to all such necessities of building that present a big section of the increase in costs of building materials over the prices of 1917.

Especially is this true of brick, which is charged for freight rates at so much per thousand. In 1917, the railroads transported bricks at $3.74 to $4.00 per thousand, a thousand bricks weighing more than 5,000 pounds. The first two freight increases of ten cents and later 30 cents, added somewhat to this cost and the last increase of 40 per cent has boosted the freight to from $6.30 to $6.49.

The price of bricks at the kiln, has not been remaining constant all of this time. Prices of $14 a thousand are quoted now on what is known as the common grade. When the freight of $6.49 is added to this, the price is brought up to $20.49 a thousand. Cost of unloading and hauling and of labor, that enter into these prices, before the dealer's profit is tacked on, explains why bricks are selling at around $28 a thousand. In 1917 the price was from $7 to $9 a thousand, plus a freight rate of about $4 and a total retail price of about half of what it is today.

Cement, which also plays a big part in building is very little higher now in actual price than back in 1917, and so the difference the purchaser must pay for this product is practically all represented by the freight rate increase. In 1917 the rate was $1.62 a ton, while now it is $3.30 a ton. Lime has raised in price about $4 a ton since 1917, besides the increase in freight rates. Back in 1917, the freight rate on lime was from 58 cents a ton to $1.16 a ton, while it is now from $1.45 a ton to $2.23. It is rumored also that both coal and lime are due for an increase in price, neither having inflated greatly.

The fact that these figures are now about constant, should be some assurance to prospective builders. Any change in price conditions for some time, according to dealers, will likely be an upward trend. The prospective builder, who is waiting for a drop in price of materials, may take assurance from these facts, for with freight rates as they now stand, the dealer is as helpless as the manufacturer in making much of a reduction. Just how much the three freight increases since 1917 enter into the costs of coal, lime, cement and brick is shown by the following table of compared rates:

Pocharitas Coal	1921	1917
All other W. Va. Coal	$2.55	$1.35
Kentucky Coal	2.45	1.25
Ohio Coal	2.35	1.25
Ohio Coal	2.05	1.10
Ohio Coal	1.95	1.00
Ohio Coal	1.65	.90
Lime-Ohio	1.45	.58
Lime-Ohio	2.23	1.16
Cement-Ohio	3.30	1.62
Cement-Pennsylvania	3.60	1.65
Sewer-Pipe-Ohio	4.22	1.63
Sewer-Pipe-Ohio	3.60	2.07
Com. Brick per M-Ohio	6.49	3.74
Com. Brick per W-Ohio	6.49	3.71

"The freight price on coal from Kentucky on cars at Xenia will jump 12 cents more after this month, according to the dealers.

I was then in bed part of the time and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work and do my household besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. ## EX-SECRETARY LANSING HAS COMMENCED HIS STORY OF THE MAKING OF THE VERSAILLES TREATY.

When President Wilson turned Secretary Lansing out of his Cabinet because their minds "did not run together," the latter announced that he would be heard from after the 5th of March, when he could say things that it would not be proper for him to say about the President of the United States. He has kept his word, and we have our private opinion that his pay for the article, from the medium through which he is giving it to the public, will greatly exceed that of any Cabinet member now or ever.

The circumstances under which Mr. Lansing, former secretary of state, writes of the making of the treaty of Versailles must give his account more than ordinary interest. He sat in the council of ten and the supreme war council, being present at seventy-six meetings of these bodies. He saw what was to be seen and heard what was to be heard at these formal meetings, and now when he is free to write of his conclusions they obviously do not lose in point because he was dismissed from the cabinet of one of the peace makers whose work at Paris forms a part of the subject of which he writes.

The opening chapter of Mr. Lansing's account in the Saturday Evening Post deals only with M. Clemenceau, whom the author regards and hails as the dominant figure at the conference. Mr. Lansing has a notion of his own that President Wilson would have liked to preside over the conference. He has another notion that M. Clemenceau took some care in sizing Mr. Wilson up to see whether the American was likely to prove a rival, and having sized him up took the first trick by inducing the President to sit in the conference as a delegate where he would be on a level with the representatives of all other countries. That accomplished the masterful Frenchman had no competition for the honor and influence that went with the place at the head of the table.

If Mr. Lansing has correctly assumed that the representatives of the small nations were present with a great variety of conflicting desires, calculated to make for debate and protracted sessions, then M. Clemenceau's selection as president was a wise one, for certainly no other presiding officer could have carried the high hand with these Europeans that M. Clemenceau carried. It would have been resented from an American or an Englishman. M. Clemenceau seems to have improved on every method that we used to associate with Speaker Reed and Speaker Cannon. The poor diplomats who thought they were going to Paris to help make a treaty never got a chance to make a sound. The French delegates knew what was to be done at the session and nobody else knew. A paper was handed around with the order of the day on it, but before anybody had a chance to examine it the measures had been called up and put through and M. Clemenceau had adjourned the session. Mr. Lansing himself seems to have been a little dazed by it.

He and Mr. Wilson are both out of office now and their minds are not expected to travel together. The former secretary has joined the ranks of the historians and history enjoys peculiar privileges which a secretary of states does not.

MAKE YOUR CITY BEAUTIFUL.

There has been born in Xenia a new movement, which has been bubbling beneath the surface for a long time—a movement based on civic pride, and good citizenship, with the making of the city the most attractive place possible under its conditions as its goal.

Before an open meeting of residents Tuesday night, the committee, fostered by the Chamber of Commerce, explained the need of such improvement in Xenia. It showed how the barren places, the "eye sores," the ugly spots of the city, could, at a trifling expense, be turned into places of beauty and charm, and then made its appeal to the hearts and purses of the people of the city for a donation of $2,500 with which to start and maintain this work.

It is needless to say that this project deserves the whole-hearted co-operation, and support of every man, woman and child in the city. The very nature of the movement, that of making the city a better place in which to live, ought to have the necessary appeal to the average citizen, and to place him in the ranks of those who have volunteered to serve. In a few days direct solicitation will be made, and you will be asked to contribute whatever you can to the furtherance of the plan. Give the matter careful consideration and then place your name opposite whatever you desire to donate.

While this fund is necessary to carry out the immediate and larger projects which the committee has in mind, there is another side to the question which involves the individual, and requires no money outlay except to your own property. That is the proposition of individual and neighborhood beautification. If you will aim to make your property as attractive as possible with flowers, vines and shrubs and your neighbors do likewise, the result will be a street attractive to the eye, and will dispel the drab sameness which so often is in evidence.

Show your civic pride by getting behind this movement and aiding to the extent of your ability.

AN AUTHORS' BOYCOTT.

The authors' union, officially known as the Authors' League of America, with a membership including most of the well known magazine writers, has denounced a prominent publishing house as an "unfair shop" and refused to have any further dealings with it until it changes its policy. This is one of the first official acts of the union, which was organized last year.

The controversy is not, as might be inferred, a direct question of wages—that is, of remuneration for the stories or articles. There is no attempt, as yet, to enforce anything like a standard scale of pay for literature, and it doesn't seem likely that there will ever be. Yet there is a certain indirect relationship with the amount of pay received for work.

The authors complain that the publisher in question will not buy stories unless he can control the moving picture rights, and discriminates against fiction that is not adapted to the movies. They pledge themselves, therefore, not to write for the offending publisher until he changes his policy.

This is probably the first authors' boycott on record. Here is a change, indeed, from the times when authors were poor devils, penurious and friendless, helpless save for such scraps of pay or charity as a publisher or patron might see fit to toss them. In union there is strength. They will probably bring this particular employer to terms, and they will be heard from again in their organized capacity.

IS ANYBODY NOT FEELING WELL, DOCTOR?

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

The Little Miami Traction Company is getting some material on the ground of the construction of the line, and ties are being unloaded at the Springfield end of the line. Stakes are being set for the road on the streets of that city and a small amount of work is being done.

The two telephone companies which have been building lines in this city will make it necessary for the fire department to rebuild the lines of the fire alarm system. In putting up the telephone wires the fire alarm wires have been shifted about, to such an extent, that they have been put in bad shape.

The Business Men's Association has received inquiries from two manufacturing concerns asking what inducement will be given in this city for the location of factories. One is from a shoe manufacturing company in Boston which desires a location in the West and employs about 100 hands. Another is from a Cincinnati concern incorporated for $50,000 and which manufactures hardware specialties.

Dayton has granted a franchise to an independent telephone company and the work of constructing a new system in opposition to the Bell Company will shortly be begun there. This will give the Citizens Company new building system here an entrance into that city.

Is It Yours?

This is the Birthday of KATE GREENAWAY.

Kate Greenaway, English artist and illustrator was born in London in 1846 the daughter of a well known engraver on wood. From the time she was quite young she designed clever Christmas cards which, because of their quaint beauty and charm of draftsmanship, had an extraordinary vogue. As she grew older she began illustrating books and exhibited water color drawings. Her subjects were mostly children young girls, flowers and landscapes, and the artless simplicity, freshness and humor of her pictures so appealed to both the public and the artists, that Kate Greenaway's reputation was assured.

From the very first, she began making extraordinary sums of money, but she never lost her shyness of public notice. The leading feature in her work was her revival of the delightfully quaint costume of the beginning of the nineteenth century. This so captured the imagination of all who bought her pictures that Kate Greenaway costumes became the fashion for all young people. It has been said that "Kate Greenaway dressed the children in her pictures."

At her death in 1901 it was found that she had written numerous excellent poems, so that she might have added to her reputation with her pen as well as her brush. She herself had much of the sweet shyness she gave the children in her pictures.

MOTOR AIDS

The cost of tires due to neglect is often greater than the cost of actual wear. Some of the things that causes excessive wear and deterioration are driving into holes in the street or into ruts, turning corners at too high speed, stopping the car so quickly with the brake that the wheels slide on the pavement and letting the front wheels get out of alignment so that the tires slide instead of being rolled over.

For mechanical reasons there should be a slight toe in to the front wheels, but if this is allowed to go beyond the proper limit, it will cost the owner money.

While oil and grease of good quality costs money, their use will save many times their cost in replacement of parts. On the other hand waste of lubricant is an unnecessary expense.

Everyday Etiquette

"When I receive the announcement of the birth of a child am I expected to send a gift to the child, or what is the correct thing to do?" asked Amy.

"No, it is not necessary to send a gift unless you wish, but you should call and inquire about the mother's and child's health," said her sister.

CUT ENGINE CREW

Bucyrus, March 17.—It has been announced that the through engine crews on the Toledo & Ohio Central railroad will be cut in the near future, five crews. This would leave only 10 regular and two extra crews. The round house mechanical staff of the road has been cut 40 per cent in the past 90 days.

ALLEGED BIGAMIST RETURNED Cincinnati, March 16.—A Cincinnati city detective returned from Houston, Tex., with Harry Bayles, 38, who is charged with bigamy. Bayles was arrested on a warrant sworn to by Mrs. Mary Bacon Bayles of Cleveland. His only statement was: "They will have to prove that I married twice."

Tips on Gardening Found By Inquiring Reporter

Individual effort and interest is required for the success of the proposed plan for the beautification of the city of Xenia. Individuality is one of the American characteristics in the accomplishment of the beautiful, hence in making a place whether big or little, beautiful, the tastes and individuality of the owner will generally direct his efforts and no hard or set rules can be given.

Nothing adds more to the homeliness or beauty of a house and lot than does a garden. Love of flowers and all things green and growing is with many men and women, an instinct to "dress up a garden and keep it." People whose lives and those of their parents before them, have been spent in dingy tenements strive to cultivate a few frail plants in the tiny window box overlooking the roofs of the city.

Gardening offers two advantages to its lovers, they can everywhere enjoy it and can patronize it on their own account at small expense.

In starting a garden, the first question of course, is where and what to plant. If you are a beginner in the art or wish to know some of the finer points that add to the interest of the art the consultation of the books of the Public Library is advised. The following have been chosen to illustrate how a little expense, time and effort may be applied to help make Xenia a "city beautiful" by the planning of a garden by every householder in the city.

"A Woman's Handy Garden" by Ely; "Book of Garden Plans," by Hamlin; "Old Time Gardens," by Earle; "Garden Making," Bailey; "The Practical Flower Garden," Ely; "The Home Garden," Appleton; and "Flower Gardening" Adams.

SENDS HIS SILK SHIRTS 3,300 MILES TO BE WELL LAUNDERED

Los Angeles, March 15.—Thirty three hundred miles to the laundry. Forty or more silk shirts—ten coming, ten going, ten in the wash and ten on hand to wear.

That, in brief, is the programme followed by D. M. Dobbs, a hotel guest here, when he desires to have his shirts laundered.

It had the baggage man at the hotel guessing. Why should a man send his laundry 3,300 miles to be washed? Every week a package went out and every week one came back.

However— "I own the laundry at New Haven, Conn., where the shirts are sent," explained Mr. Dobbs. "When the shirts came back I know the quality of the work that has been done if things are being kept up to standard at home. It takes a laundryman to read a history in a clean shirt."

WHY THEY PUT BUTTONS ON MEN'S COAT SLEEVES IS NOW ANSWERED

Kansas City, Kan.—Why the buttons on men's coat sleeves? A tailor here explains it this way.

"Buttons on coat sleeves are strangely linked with the improvement in man's personal hygiene. Years ago as you'll remember, men trotted around all dolled up in silk pants and fluffy waists that would make women's styles of this day and age look mossbacked.

"On each man's sleeve was a long lace cuff that flopped about in much the same fashion as the flapper's unbuckled galoshes do now on a rainy day. Obviously such cuffs often interfered with the courtier's salaams and so some clever tailors had the happy idea of putting buttons on the sleeves to button the cuffs back when said bean brummel "took off his coat" so to speak.

"Another version is that the soldiers of a certain old king in England were furnished with new uniforms with beautiful lace cuffs and were the pride of their monarch's heart until one sad day he caught a sentry using the cuff as a handkerchief. He immediately issued orders to have metal buttons put on the cuffs so that forgetful warriors would scratch their noses if they attempted such a manoeuvre.

"In time the lace cuffs went out of style, but they forgot to take off the buttons and so they remain today as useless as the popular notion of uselessness of the vermiform appendix."

HOME BREW.

My neighbor Blitzen took some hops and herbs and roots and barks, and brewed a pail of sparkling slops, to banish care that carks; and then he sipped some forty drops, with eloquent remarks. "There is no reason why a hick should suffer and be dry; this brew of mine is pretty slick, it beats the stuff you buy; it has the pep, it has the kick, the potency of rye." He took another forty drops, directly from the pail, then uttered sundry warlike yawns that made me shrink and quail, and tried to whip the village cops, who bore him off to jail. The home brew artists have no luck, this mad and merry year; through straws or garden hose they suck their nectar, amber clear, and then they're loaded on a truck and jailed for half a year. They never seem to put across the graft they've framed so well; a bowl or two they blithely toss, and arch their necks and yell, and then they're seen, a total loss, in some punk prison cell. And, having seen what ills befall the home brew sports this year, I do not fill my flagons tall with stuff that looks like beer, but to the hydrant by the wall my steps I sanely steer.

CLEANSING CREAMS

If the health is fairly good, the way to a perfect complexion is easy. It is only a matter of thorough cleanliness, but thorough cleanliness consists in something more than a daily soap and water wash.

If the skin is rough or blotchy or full of pimples or scabs, external treatments will not help enormously until the internal condition that causes the trouble is done away with and using fairly hot water and plain castile soap, giving the skin a thorough scrubbing. The action of the brush will bring the blood to the face and will be to get all the cream from the pores and along with it a surprising amount of dirt. After this, rinse the face with clear hot water, then with cool water.

At this point, the complexion treatment differs according to the type of skin. If the skin is very

But if you are in moderately good health, the following simple treatment will keep the skin as fine grained and clear as you could desire.

As this treatment is a little vigorous, it may be drying to the complexion; therefore, I am advising the use of cleansing cream every day. Cleansing cream cannot possibly grow hair on the face, so you need not hesitate to use quantities of it.

First, hold an old towel wrung from hot water over the face, let it stay there for about a minute, then while the skin is still warm from it, rub in a small quantity of cleansing cream. Let this stay on the face for two or three minutes, rubbing gently with the finger tips across the forehead around the eyes, around the nose and up from the mouth over the cheeks. This works the cleansing cream into the pores which have already been opened by the application of heat.

Then take a complexion brush, either a rubber or a bristle brush,

C. D. W.—It is almost impossible for one person to tell another how to overcome self consciousness. About the best advice that can be given is to tell the person to go out among people in company and to try to become very much interested in every new person. Overcoming self-consciousness is more or less a matter of one's own will power.

A Constant Reader—A good chiropodist can do a great deal for your bunions, although I do not know whether or not it is possible to cure them. You will have relief if you will wear low-heeled round-toed shoes, with a straight insole, so that the big toe can be straight. This will allow room for the enlarged joint. A felt pad around the place will take away the pressure of the shoe and relieve pain.

MEXICO'S RICHEST OIL COMPANY

DECLARES 49 PER CENT DIVIDEND

Mexico City.—The annual report of the Agulla Oil Company, just filed with the Secretary of Industry, shows a production during the past year that yielded 57,000,000 pesos. The company declared a dividend of 49 per cent the highest of any oil concern in the republic. The company now has pipe lines with a daily capacity of 110,000 barrels and will increase these so that the daily capacity will be 149,000 barrels. It is announced that the capital stock, now 57,000,000 pesos, is to be considerably increased, but that the new issue will be distributed among the stockholders and not placed up on the market.

old plants. Besides this, when the new power unit, which the recent bond issue will be used to purchase, is installed, which will be within a few months, the entire capacity of the new plant will be doubled, making at a minimum over 2,000,000 gallons of water available every day of the year, as compared with about 750,000 gallons, the maximum the city has had available under the old system. With these conditions true the insurance rates should be lower, if anything rather than raised it is claimed.

H. S. LeSourd, Xenia insurance man said today that there is absolutely no truth in the statement that the bureau has ordered higher rates for this city because of the use of smaller mains. If any such action as this was contemplated, the bureau would have notified the city before the new plant was built, he stated, as it keeps itself apprised of all of these conditions in fixing the rates. As a matter of fact, the silence of the Bureau, in this respect shows that the decrease in the size of the mains is not objectionable from the points of insurance rates.

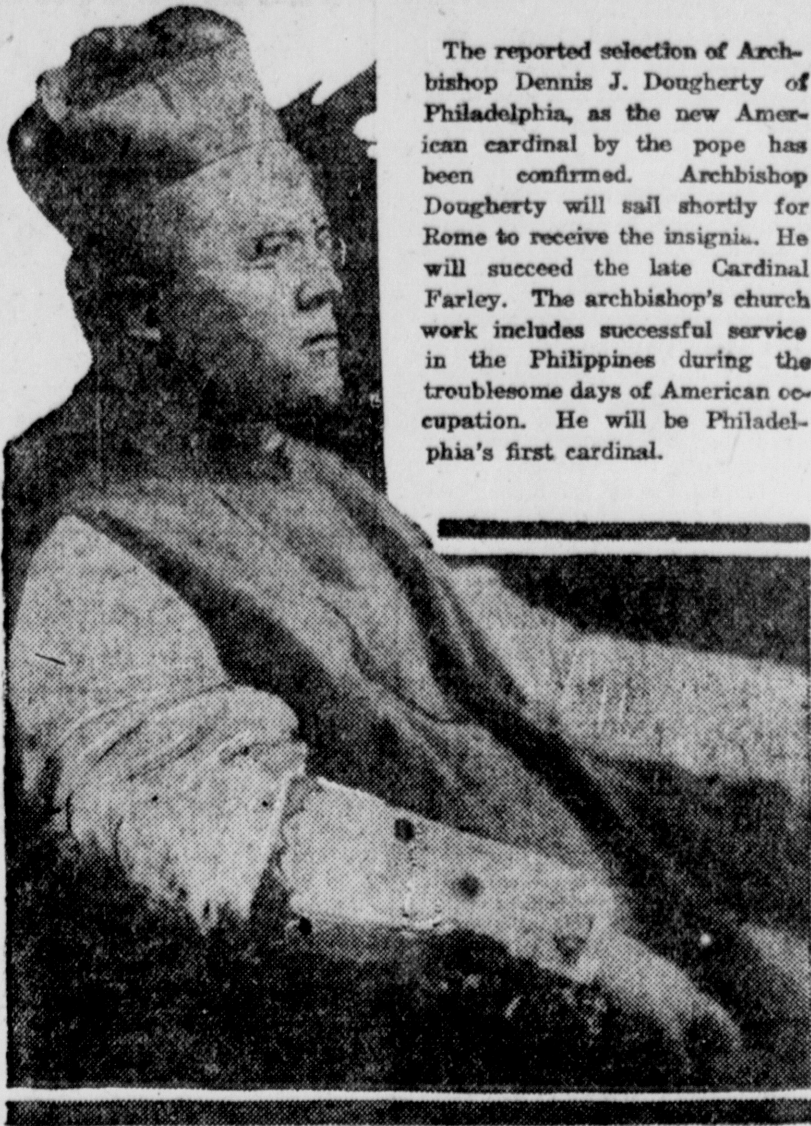

"Larger mains are used only as an economical measure," said City Manager Riddle. "It is believed that there is less friction occurring in larger mains, and therefore the life of the pipes is longer. In using a 12-inch main instead of a 14 inch main, however, the city saved $10,000 in the purchase of the pipe. With the new water power plant, the smaller main will carry much more water than the old main has been doing for some time."

Phillip Burgess of the Burgess & Nipke, consulting hydraulic engineers of Columbus, who designed the plant said at the time of the construction that it would be folly to spend this extra money for larger mains.

When the new water supply is started permanently Monday, this city will not only have a pure supply of water, but a more abundant supply, it is pointed out by the city officials. The source of the water is unlimited and the new and efficient high duty pumps forcing the water into the city, a supply for a city of several times the population of Xenia is available in any emergency.

Besides the extra amount of water that can be secured through ordinary pumping at the new plant the supply of water in the stand pipe, forestalls any danger from fire source, it is said. The big pipe holds 270,000 gallons of water. If the pumps were cut off, this supply would be available during a period of maximum domestic consumption for over six hours and with two fire lines from the booster pump of the fire department truck going, the standpipe supply would last for over 4 hours. With the city after next Monday, able to pump more than twice as much water as has been available during the past few years, Xenia is promised more fire protection as far as the water supply is concerned, than it has had for some time.

BANKS OF MEXICO SOON TO RESUME NORMAL FUNCTIONS

Mexico City.—The adoption of the new law expediting the reopening of the Banco Nacional de Mexico and the Banco de Londres and Mexico has greatly improved financial conditions here. Several years ago when the gold and silver reserves of these institutions were taken over by the government, bills of the Banco Nacional dropped from 40 cents on the peso to 25 cents. The Banco de Londres bills fell as low as 18 cents.

With the announcement that these banks are soon to resume business, Banco Nacional bills have gone to 65 cents and Banco de Londres to 41 cents.

Other well known banks of issue, admittedly solvent, have indicated equal firmness. The bills of the Mercantil de Veracruz are selling as high as 60 cents. Banco de Hidalgo, 60 cents, Jalisco 55 cents. The shares of these banks are at $83.50 for Banco Nacional, $40 for Banco de Londres Par is $100.

According to the Boletín Financiero de Mexico the total outstanding bills of the Banco de Londres is $26,246,141 and debts of previous governments to the bank $29,232,262.21. If these debts are paid in full a surplus of more than three millions of pesos remains after paying the banks bill at par.

PARTY NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH AS CAR OVERTURNS

Occupants of the machine driven by Orville Hollingsworth of Bowersville, narrowly escaped serious injury when the party was returning to their homes in Bowersville from this city.

The occupants were Miss Corrine Ellis, Francis Brakefield, and the ten year old daughter of Mr. Hollingsworth, all of Bowersville. The machine, a five passenger Jackson touring car, was being driven at a high rate of speed it is said, and when Mr. Hollingsworth lost control of when about two and a half miles out of Jamestown the car swerved from the road striking a fence and overturning in a corn field. Miss Ellis suffered the fracture of both collar bones, the fracture of the left arm and bruises about the chest and limbs. Miss Brakefield was out upon the limbs. Mr. Hollingsworth was bruised upon the shoulders and limbs. Miss Hollingsworth was slightly scratched. The three young women were riding in the rear of the machine. Miss Ellis, who was the most badly hurt, had just recovered from an operation at the Epsey Hospital, but her condition is not thought serious.

The machine was entirely demolished. Miss Ellis was taken to the Epsey Hospital, this city.

Denver.—After several months of quiet, the boxing game in Denver is scheduled for an early redemption following the granting of a license by city authorities to the National Athletic Club.

Jack Kanner, widely known promoter, will be the man behind the guns in the new organization and he is arranging an excellent series of contests for the fans of Denver and vicinity.

Kanner's club has taken a lease on the Stockyards Stadium, an arena with a seating capacity of 15,000 and some real sport is in prospect for the followers of fistiana.

Johnny Corbett, former manager of the original "Young Corbett," champion lightweight of the world, will be associated with Kanner in the National Athletic Club.

EXPLAINS METHODS OF CHRISTIANITY AT REVIVAL SERVICE

"To be a Christian is not to have a 'holier than thou' attitude. It is to be clothed with humility. To put the best possible construction on the life and character of others. To be conscious of one's own faults—to hold high ideals and noble purposes and strive earnestly to reach them."

These statements were made by Rev. G. A. Scott Wednesday night, to an audience that filled the First Methodist Episcopal Church to hear his sermon upon "The Reward of Being a Christian."

"It makes a man better to be a disciple of Jesus Christ. Not better than his neighbor but better than he himself was," pointed out Dr. Scott. "Peace and contentment are found in Christ. His ways bring wisdom and His paths from beginning to end bring freedom and give strength. Christ gives to man right conceptions of God, causes him to respect himself. Gives him a love for his fellow man. Jesus Christ enthroned in the hearts of men would not only bring individual rest but would bring peace to a warring world."

Mr. Hackleman's first picture study featured the Wednesday night service. Correggio's "Holy Night" a masterpiece that was painted 400 years ago and has been stolen from the most famous art museums and captured in the loot of conquering armies was shown Wednesday night. A solo "No Room for Jesus" was given by Mr. Hackleman at the time of the showing of the famous picture.

ONE ACT PLAYS WILL BE PRESENTED BY HIGH SCHOOL

Two one act plays, will be presented by the classes of 1921 and 1923 of Central High School at the Opera House next Thursday, for the benefit of the Central HI Review, the school paper, which has been forced to discontinue as a separate publication because of financial obligations, and which is now being published weekly in the Gazette and Republican.

The plays are being arranged separate from the annual Senior Class Play, which will not be presented until later in the season. Because of the fact that the two classes to give the first two plays possess the odd numerals of 1921 and 1923, the affair will be known as "Odd Nite," while about two weeks later, the classes of 1922 and 1924 will each present a play, that night being known as "Even Nite."

The Class of 1921, which is the Senior Class this year, will present "Her Busy Day," a comedy one-act play, full of snap, and a cast is now busy rehearsing the play. The Junior Class, or Class of 1923 will present

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

GOOD BLOOD CONQUERS DISEASE

Pepto-Mangan Purifies the Blood and Fills it with Red Corpuscles

Scientists like to compare the red corpuscles in the blood to an army. The red corpuscles are disc-shaped, smooth cells which swim in the blood in large numbers. They take up and carry away impurities from all parts of the body.

When disease germs enter your body (and millions do every day) it is the red corpuscles that attack and destroy them.

If your blood is weak and sluggish and loaded with poisons, the disease germs are able to multiply quickly. That is when you are pale and what you call "run down."

That is when you need to take that great tonic, Pepto-Mangan. It contains the ingredients your blood needs to build it up and increase the number of red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan is for sale at your druggist's, and in both liquid and tablet form. They have exactly the same ingredients. Take whichever you prefer. But to make sure you get the genuine, ask for "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" and see that the name "Gude's" is on the package. adv

London.—A strange 'tail' was unfolded—on the screen—at the Royal Anthropological Society when Professor Keith lectured on "Tailed Men."

Man is actually a tailed animal, according to the professor, but this useful appendage has become atrophied through centuries of evolution largely owing to the adoption of an upright mode of locomotion.

It is only once in a million times, said the lecturer, that the tail of the fully formed human being protrudes. One instance quoted was that of an American baby so well furnished in this respect that its tail responded to emotional impulses—it could wag its tail with joy.

Why the Brunswick Phonograph is what it is-----

WHILE we rely entirely on the inherent merit of THE BRUNSWICK to prove its own case, as it has always done—yet, it is a source of great satisfaction to occasionally reflect on the wonderful organization and resources back of it which has not only been responsible for the present unique position of esteem in which the instrument is universally held, but which also furnishes us and our clientele of BRUNSWICK owners with the satisfying assurance that THE BRUNSWICK will always be the most desired of all phonographs.

A few facts concerning the Manufacturers of the Brunswick Phonograph

They are capitalized for $56,000,000.

—have branch offices in twenty-five cities in the United States —five in Canada, one in France, one in Cuba and one in South America.

—operate their own timber lands in Northern Michigan.

—make every part of the BRUNSWICK Phonograph in its entirety.

—are the only phonograph manufacturers in the United States, and, we think, the only one in the world, that actually does this.

—have at the present time seven factories devoted to the manufacture of phonographs and parts, and two factories to the pressing of records.

—cut their own veneer logs and slice their own veneer.

—manufacture their own panels and are just completing a plant to manufacture shipping cases for their phonographs.

Ponder over these facts and you will readily discover the reason of our enthusiasm for Brunswick Phonographs and Records.

MEXICO'S FORMER TERROR IS BUSY GETTING ACQUAINTED WITH FAMILY

Francisco Villa, with his two children, Augustin, seven, and Micaela, nine.

Francisco Villa, the Mexican revolutionary leader who brought down the wrath of the U. S. on his head a few years ago and caused President Wilson to send a punitive expedition into Mexico in search of him, has quit "revoluting" for good, he says. He has been living on his farm with his family for some time now, directing the running of the place and getting acquainted with his family. He is shown above with his two children.

COUGH MEDICINES ON TRIAL

Judge French's Decision

Judge French, of Alexandria, Ind., says: "After running through the whole category of cough remedies and so called cough cures, the only one that I can really recommend is Glando Pine." He also says, "I had a chronic cough for years. I really had no faith in being cured because I had tried so many remedies and they had all failed. I was so anxious for relief that I decided to give Glando Pine a trial and I made no mistake for it cured my cough. I am now free from a cough and can go to bed and sleep I am so thankful for my cure that I am only anxious to tell others of this wonderful cough medicine. I cannot praise Glando Pine too highly."

Glando Pine quickly relieves the distressing cough which annoys children at night. It is a safe and reliable remedy that can be prepared at home at a saving of $2.00 a pint. All you have to do is to mix it with enough syrup or strained honey to make a pint and you have a remedy for coughs, colds, hoarseness, throat irritation, croup and bronchial trouble that cannot be beat. Ask your druggist. Or send 50 cents to The Glando-Aid Co., Fort Wayne, Ind.—Adv.

THE FLAVOR LASTS

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Have you ever thought, "Oh, if I could only have a maid just to help me with the meals and the children on washday" or perhaps "If I could just have a cook and a maid for Sundays?" If you lived in New York City your plaint would be heard, for all you would have to do would be to telephone Miss Alice Gutkin at the Home Makers' Guide. Miss Gutkin gave up a professional career in order that she might emancipate other professional women from household cares.

The Home Makers' Guide was started in a small way three years ago. It now numbers 817 servants. Miss Gutkin, who is proficient in six languages was working ten hours a day for an export house when the household cares of her small apartment began to make a slave of her. Every night there were the dishes, the dusting, the bed making and a hundred and one other things which every woman who has kept house has experienced. One night instead of tidying things up as she had always done she visited several of her neighbors and asked them if they would pool their money and hire a maid who would give a few hours each day to each of them. That maid was the first member of the guild.

Miss Gutkin finally gave up her position with the export house and used her six languages as she needed them in dealing with her patrons and employees at the guild. She had always wanted to find something she could do better than anyone else and she wanted it to be a contribution toward the advancement and emancipation of women. That, in brief, is the aim of the guild. Many people think it is strange that with her educational equipment she should find herself happier handling household servants than she has ever been before.

This is what Miss Gutkin herself says about it: "Getting household help onto a working basis is surely as important as anything I could do. My chief concern is to rid the professional and business woman of household cares."

GRADE CONTEST IS HELD IN NEW JASPER SCHOOL WEDNESDAY

The first district Parent-Teachers Meeting and Grade Contest held in New Jasper Township was held Wednesday under the direction of Superintendent E. A. DeVoe.

Heretofore the Parent-Teachers Association have gotten together in each school and this was the first attempt to bring the different school organizations together as a district meeting. Contests for the pupils of the various schools in spelling and reading were conducted according to grades.

County Superintendent H. C. Aulman and County Agent Ford S. Prince spoke on the Boys and Girls Club work, and Pig, Poultry and Stock Judging Clubs were formed at the meeting with large enrollment of boys and girls. Superintendent DeVoe announced that the meeting was the first of its kind in the country, but the fact that it proved a success insures other meetings of a like nature.

MAN NO LONGER MASTER OF HIS HOME IS WORD

London. — "I have invariably found that where a man knocks his wife about it is the wife's fault," said Mr. Symmons, the Clerkenwell Magistrate, during the hearing of a case where a woman had charged her husband with assault.

A man, commented Mr. Symmons is no longer master in his own home. A woman promised to "love, honor and obey," but obedience could not be enforced.

"Under the good old law," he said, "a man could treat his wife as long as the stick was no thicker than his thumb. But now the law was weakened and we had instead these miserable maintenance orders and there was no domestic happiness."

FORMER PASTOR OF XENIA CHURCHMAN OF DAYTON BODY

Rev. H. J. Jewett, pastor of the Broadway M. E. Church, Dayton, and former pastor of Trinity M. E. Church here, was chairman of the committee of ministers and laymen from Dayton, that secured Evangelist Billy Sunday for a two months engagement in Dayton, starting in November, 1922.

Sunday is now conducting revival services at Cincinnati, and before coming to Dayton will have to hold campaigns in Tulsa, Okla., Orlando, Fla., Spartansburg, W. Va., Sioux City, Bluefield, W. Va. and Richmond, Ind.

CUT THIS OUT—IT IS WORTH MONEY

Cut out this slip, enclose with 5c and mail it to Foley & Co., 2335 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive in return a trial package containing Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs, colds and croup; Foley Kidney Pills for pains in sides and back; rheumatism, backache, kidney and bladder ailments; and Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome and thoroughly cleansing cathartic for constipation, biliousness, headaches and sluggish bowels. Sayre & Hemphill.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that of two bottles of Allenburh, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and go away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenburh has been tried and tested for years, and really marvellous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenburh, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenburh decisively conquers the worst of all diseases and he has instructed Sayre & Hemphill to guarantee it in every instance.

TRAFFIC COPS OF ALL KINDS AND STYLES AT WORK

Washington, March 17.—Which is the most cosmopolitan city in the world? American Red Cross workers and American tourists who have been here will heatedly assert that Constantinople wins first prize, and will produce one of the most graphic arguments to substantiate their statements—the traffic cops.

If the traffic laws of the city were rigorous the entire population native tourists and refugees would be in jail for the native gendarmes are being assisted by American, French, English Italian, Greek and Rumanian soldiers and sailors, each wearing their own uniform and shouting orders in their own language.

At one corner the bewildered pedestrian will be directed by an Italian policeman, wearing a swallow-tail coat a red hat and white gloves. At the next an English "omni" demonstrating "English" as she should be moved and when to stop. At the next to may find an American sailor, his white hat tipped at the approved angle, waving his arms to the oncoming traffic in the latest fashion decreed by Broadway.

The Greeks in their short skirts and the French Colonial with his baggy trousers add to the picturesque quality of the scene if not to its simplicity.

Americans are convinced that a six block's walk will convince any skeptic of Constantinople's right to the title "most cosmopolitan city."

ATTITUDE OF U. S. WORRIES EUROPE

Washington, March 17.—The well nigh complete silence which the new administration and the republicans in the senate have observed with regard to the reopening of the league of nations issue apparently is causing no little concern in the French and British governments. Activities noted in Washington show these governments are keenly desirous of finding out just where the league issue stands under the new regime in Washington.

IRON AND STEEL EXPORTS HEAVY

London.—Great Britain's exports of iron and steel have doubled since the end of the war, whereas those from the United States show a falling off of approximately 9 per cent, according to a report issued by the American Chamber of Commerce in London.

Attention is drawn, however, to the fact that American exports were abnormally large during the war for military purposes and the exports of last year show a considerable increase over the corresponding figure for 1913.

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED

Juanita Boasts Chapter 117

I couldn't help speculating upon the change in Juanita's attitude. What did it mean? Had she realized that Dick would get away from her, her influence, when they stopped working together, and to prevent had feigned the sympathetic friend who was willing to sacrifice her own ambitions to further his?

It was a clever move.

Dick became his own optimistic self again, and worked indefatigably. Once when I said that he should not work so hard he reminded me that since Juanita was not working with him he felt duty bound to show her that he did better work when alone.

"It is the only way she will be convinced that I do not need her," he had added. He meant need her to help in his writing. In other ways he seemed to seek her more than ever. Once I overheard him say, "I cannot repay you in any other way for your sweet sympathy, your belief in me—save to give you what time I can spare."

I had not heard what went before so drew my own conclusions.

Juanita had changed her tactics entirely. She flattered, almost I was about to say cajoled him. She appeared to anticipate his desires when he was around, and was constantly planning some sort of pleasures for the hard working author as she called him.

Dick had once more commenced a serial story.

"I will send it to some magazine, then if it is accepted and I can get a publisher. I will put it out in book form," he said when he began it. Juanita had run over a few minutes before, and Dick had insisted she stay to dinner. I seconded his invitation although I desperately wanted to tell her to go home and remain there. However it was no part of my plan to let her know how I felt.

During dinner I rallied Juanita upon remaining a widow.

"One as attractive as you are must have had many chances to marry," I remarked.

"Naturally," she confessed, "but I must marry the man I want, not just for the sake of getting married. And I am hard to please." She shot a quick glance at Dick through languishing lids.

"Juanita believes in taking happiness where she can regardless of others," I said to Dick, then repeated the conversation we had had on the subject, and which had shocked me.

"She would never willfully hurt any one I am sure," Dick replied absent-mindedly.

"Don't be too sure, Dick!" she responded lightly. "I am one of the sort that always get what they want—eventually."

"But not always when you want it?" I broke in.

"Some things are the better for waiting," she answered, "and I have a great deal of patience."

I knew she spoke truly. When she wanted to accomplish anything, she was a marvel of patience. I had noticed it often and at first had envied the trait in her. I was too impulsive, too apt to "go off a tangent" as Dick expressed it.

Nothing more was said on the subject and when Dick took her home and remained an hour or more—although it was late, I was so distressed I completely forgot it. But a few days afterward it occurred to me. She had said she always secured what she wanted—some time. I could not doubt that she wanted Dick. Would she get him—some time? Not if I could help it.

I also, would cultivate patience. I would be as sympathetic as she, even though I found it hard to make Dick understand my feeling. He gave me so little of his time, was so preoccupied so bent upon spending all of his leisure on his story save what he gave to Juanita, that at times I doubted if he realized I existed.

I often wondered at Dick—at the change in him. A continuous internal agitation seemed to be transforming him into someone different from the Dick I knew. He seemed to be possessed of an extravagant romanticism, which I laid to the effect of the story he was writing, a romance. Afterward I sensed it was only the effect of Juanita—her personality, the most intense I ever have seen, upon him.

Now that she was no longer his partner in work, she was transformed into the alluring, petulantly idle fascinating woman of the world. She would gaze at him with a look, utter abandonment in her eyes, the while she uttered some commonplace remark that I could make nothing of.

I was sure that for her I did not exist. I was a nonentity. She had laughed at me when she talked with old Mary. I was simply a sort of impediment that, for the time, blocked her way. But her patience would effect my removal.

But while I smiled and hid all this in my inmost soul, I was far from happy.
